"Among Magnat's innovations is the Selection series, which immediately catches the eye with its white cones and whose price tag will hardly cause anyone to drop dead. Rather the reverse: The 16cm bass-midrange has been flawlessly processed and is equipped with a rubber surround, a high-quality and fairly broad spider and cleanly punched pole plate. The cone is manufactured from customary polypropylene and is quite soft. The drive generates excellent values and there is even spider ventilation. The tweeter is also appealing thanks to its impeccable workmanship. The engineers have placed a small horn in front of the 19 mm ultra fine fabric cone for sound transmission. The crossover is one of the best in this price range. The woofer is a coil of nice, thick wire that is not too lossy, and the tweeter is even provided with an excellent 12dB filter consisting of an air core coil and film capacitor. As already indicated, the Magnat unit excels in the laboratory, and it heads our leaderboard thanks to its excellent results.

Sound

Many more expensive components would not only be delighted with the outstanding values and excellent frequency response, but also with the impressive sound produced by the Selection set. It doesn't get flustered in difficult situations and refrains from producing any real faults. Vocals are excellent in every pitch and the set plays in an extremely detailed and very pleasant manner. The tweeter is never obtrusive and ensures resplendence. Only when comparisons are drawn with very high quality speakers costing a considerable amount more is there evidence that there are better sets. Naturally, the Magnat unit excelled in the test environment!"

"The Selection unit from Magnat is absolutely brilliant and this is backed up by clean values and an optimum sound."
