

MAGNAT MC 100 - COMPACT HI-RES CD-RECEIVER WITH DAB+ AND BLUETOOTH®

„[...] Down below the MC 100 also has maximum power and delivers voluminous solidly-structured basses. We particularly like the nice balance of the Magnat set. All in all everything is very harmonious, no frequency range is over-represented. In our room slightly bigger than 40 m² the MC 100 may even dare to reach out to higher volume levels and still delivers uncompromising sound quality.”

„[...] What we like best is the harmonious balance of the MC 100. The CD receiver stresslessly fills even larger lounges with natural sound, offering both nice spatiality and high precision. If your room is not too big, there's no reason to complain about low level stability.”

„A powerful compact-size all-rounder with DAB+, Bluetooth® aptX™ and very good acoustic properties.”

Conclusion:

“Flexibility, no experiments in terms of looks and a very well-balanced and harmonious acoustic performance in a compact housing: there's not much to complain about the MC 100. Sure, we always like a USB interface for the direct connection of a PC or Mac, but DAB+ and Bluetooth® as well as the built-in CD drive offer great flexibility, too. And not to forget: the headphone output. In reproducing sound, the MC 100 behaves authentically and transparently, with a full-blown balance, and also scores with very high level stability. No problem to add power in the low frequency range thanks to the integrated subwoofer output; however the settings for the bass management have to be taken over by the LFE. Handling and operation are rather conventional via remote control or on the device, but are really comfortable thanks to the very good display.”
