"TWICE AS GOOD"

" [...] During the listening test in a stereo configuration the two Signature 905 front speakers produced a dry, yet rich performance in the bass range without any support from a subwoofer. This meant the sub had to be extremely good in order to put itself in the spotlight in the 5.1 setup. And it was exactly that. Thanks to the remarkable low-frequency talents of the five units, the entire reproduction appeared completely seamless. Such a perfect transition to the subwoofer is rare, especially in this price range. The Signature 930A is one of the very best subs in the lower price segment. Its crisp, dry punch and excellent depth are to the credit of the developers."

"[...] However, we then experienced a huge wave of pressure, which didn't quite lift our basement cinema off its foundations, but got into our bones and was felt more than heard."

Conclusion:

"The sound really begins to come alive with this reasonably affordable set. Concerts and action films develop an immersive effect that draws the listener in. This is due in equal measure to the natural coordination, high resolution and dynamics, and especially the extremely deep and dry punch of the bass frequencies."
