

“[...] Without anticipating too much: The reproduction is clean and clearly structured. There’s no dissection at all; this Magnat duo delivers a crystal-clear sound which dissimulates nothing, but at the same time doesn’t overemphasize anything either.”

“[...] The high reproduction quality will instantly be noticed and is obviously due to the precisely working DAC and the particular circuitry of the receiver.”

“[...] However, the Magnat does not care about the musical genre on its platter. In both cases it delivers a neutral and strong performance and makes you feel like spending a long evening with your own vinyl collection.”

Conclusion:

“The abundantly equipped duo of a stereo hybrid receiver and a matching CD player is a highly recommendable and attractively priced hifi solution for discerning music friends that love both classical and modern media. Thanks to its great connectivity the MR 780 is well suited for almost every playback situation: Regardless if the music comes from the radio, from a vinyl, a smartphone or a notebook, the MR 780 always transports it in first-class quality with pleasant tube sound and substantial power to the speakers. The MCD 750 complements the hybrid receiver with CD playback of the same quality. The look also matches perfectly. This is hifi nowadays.”
